IMMORTALITY

Photography by Anthony Spinelli

"To me the only success, the only greatness, is immortality."
—James Dean, quoted in James Dean: The Mutant King, by David Dalton

The colonel beams at the crowd...gesticulating, manicured, he wears the satisfied expression of one who has just sold the widow a fraudulent peach orchard. "Folks, we're here to sell the only thing worth selling or worth buying and that's immortality. Now here is the simplest solution and well on the way. Just replace the worn-out parts and keep the old heap on the road indefinitely."

As transplant techniques are perfected and refined, the age-old dream of immortality is now within the grasp of mankind. But who is to decide out of a million applicants for the same heart? There simply aren't enough parts to go around. You need the job list once a year to save 30 percent, folks. Big executives use a heart a month just as regular as clockwork. Warlords, paying off their soldiers in livers and kidneys and genitals, depopulate whole areas. Vast hospital cities cover the land: the air-conditioned hospital palaces of the rich radiate out to field hospitals and open-air operating booths.

The poor are rising in huge mobs. They are attacking government warehouses where the precious parts are stored. Everyone who can afford it has dogs and guards to protect himself from roving bands of parts hunters, like the dreaded Wild Doctors, who operate on each other after the battle, cutting the warm quivering parts from the dead and dying. Cut-and-grab men dart out of doorways and hack out a kidney with a few expert strokes of their four-inch scalpels. People have lost all shame. Here's a man who sold his daughter's last kidney to buy himself a new groin—appears on TV to appeal for funds to buy little Sally an artificial kidney and give her this last Christmas. On his arm is a curvaceous blond known apparently as Bubbles. She calls him Long John; now isn't that cute?

A flourishing black market in parts grows up in the gutted cities devastated by parts riots. In terrible slums, scenes from Brueghel and Bosch are reenacted: misshapen masses of rotten scar tissue crawling with maggots supported on crutches and canes, in wheelchairs and carts. Brutal-as-butchers practitioners operate without anesthetic in open-air booths surrounded by their bloody knives and saws.

The poor wait in parts lines for diseased genitals, a cancerous lung, a cirrhotic liver. They crawl towards the operating booths holding forth nameless things in bottles that they think are usable parts. Shameless swindlers who buy up operating garbage in job lots prey on the unwary.

And here is Mr. Rich Parts. He is three hundred years old. He is still subject to accidental death, and the mere thought of it throws him into paroxysms of idiot terror. For days he cowers in his bunker, two hundred feet down in solid rock, food for fifty years. A trip from one city to another requires months of sifting and checking computerized plans and alternate routes to avoid the possibility of an accident. His idiotic cowardice knows no bounds. There he sits, looking like a China vase with a thick layer of smooth purple scar tissue. Encased as he is in this armor, his movements are slow and hydraulic. It takes him ten minutes to sit down. This layer gets thicker and thicker right down to the bone—the doctors have to operate with power tools. So we leave Mr. Rich Parts and the picturesque parts people their monument, a mountain of scar tissue.

As L. Ron Hubbard, founder of scientology, said: "The rightest right a man could be would be to live infinitely wrong." I wrote "wrong" for "long" and the slip is significant—for the means by which immortality is realised in science fiction, which will soon be science fact, are indeed infinitely wrong, the wrongest wrong a man can be, vampiric or worse.

Improved transplant techniques open the question whether the ego itself could be transplanted from one body to another, and the further question as to exactly where this entity resides. Here is Mr. Hart, a trillionaire dedicated to his personal immortality. Where is this thing called Mr. Hart? Precisely where, in the human nervous system, does this ugly death-sucking, death-dealing, death-fearing thing reside? Science gives only a tentative answer: the "ego" seems to be located in the midbrain at the top of the head. "Well," he thinks, "couldn't we just scoop it out of a healthy youth, throw his in the garbage where it belongs, and slide in MEEEEEEEE?" So he starts looking for a brain surgeon, a "scrambled egg" man, and he wants the best. When it comes to a short-order job old Doc Zeit is tops. He can switch eggs in an alley.

Mr. Hart embodies the competitive, acquisitive, success-minded spirit that formulated American capitalism. The logical extension of this ugly spirit is criminal. Success is its own justification. He who succeeds deserves to succeed; he is RIGHT. The operation is a success. The doctors have discreetly withdrawn. When a man wakes up in a beautiful new bod, he can flip out. It wouldn't pay to be a witness. Mr. Hart stands up and stretches luxuriously in his new body. He runs his hands over the lean young muscle where his potbelly used to be. All that remains of the donor is a blob of gray matter in a dish. Mr. Hart puts his hands on his hips and leans over the blob.

"And how wrong can you be? DEAD."

He spits on it and he spits ugly.

The final convulsions of a universe based on quantitative factors, like money, junk, and time, would seem to be at hand. The time approaches when no amount of money will buy anything and time itself will run out.

This is a parable of vampirism gone berserk. But all vampiric blueprints for immortality are wrong not only from the ethical standpoint. They are ultimately unworkable. In Space Vampires Colin Wilson speaks of benign vampires. Take a little, leave a little. But they always take more than they leave by the basic nature of the vampire process of inconspicuous but inexorable consumption. The vampire converts quality—live blood, vitality, youth, talent—into quantity—food and time for himself. He perpetrates the most basic betrayal of the spirit, reducing all human dreams to his shit. And that's the wrongest wrong a man can be.

Personal immortality in a physical body is impossible, since a physical body exists in time and time is that which ends. When someone says he wants to live forever, he forgets that forever is a time word. All three-dimensional immortality projects, to say the least, are ill-advised, since they always immerse the aspirant deeper in time.

The tiresome concept of personal immortality is predicated on the illusion of some unchangeable precious essence: greedy old MEEEEEEEE forever. But as the Buddhists say, there is no MEEEEEEEE, no unchanging ego.

What we think of as our ego is defensive reaction, just as the symptoms of an illness—fever, swelling, sweating—are the body's reaction to an invading organism. Our beloved ego, arising from the rotten weeds of lust and fear and anger, has no more continuity than a fever sweat. There is no ego; only a shifting process as unreal as the Cities of the Odor Eaters that dissolve in rain. A moment's introspection demonstrates that we are not the same as we were a year ago or a week ago. "What ever possessed me to do that?"

A step toward rational immortality is to break down the concept of a separate personal, and therefore inexorably mortal, ego. This opens many doors. Your spirit could reside in a number of bodies, not as some hideous parasite draining the host, but as helpful little visitor. "Roger the Lodger...don't take up much room...show you a trick or two...never overstay my welcome."

Take fifty photos of the same person over an hour. Some of them will look so unlike the subject as to be unrecognizable. And some of them will look like some other person. "Why, he looks just like Khrushchev with one gold tooth peeking out."

The illusion of a separate, inviolable identity limits your perceptions and confines you in time. You live in other people and other people live in you—"visiting," we call it—and of course it's ever so much easier with one's Clonies.

When I first heard about cloning I thought, what a fruitful concept: why, one could be in a hundred different places at once and experience everything the other clones did. I am amazed at the outcry against this good thing not only from men of the cloth but also from scientists, the very scientists whose patient research has brought cloning within our grasp. The very thought of a clone disturbs these learned gentlemen. Like cattle on the verge of stampede, they paw the ground mooing apprehensively. "Selfness is an essential fact of life. The thought of human nonselfness is terrifying."

Terrifying to whom? Speak for yourself, you timorous old beastie cowering in your eternal lavatory. Too many scientists seem to be ignorant of the most rudimentary spiritual concepts. They tend to be suspicious, bristly, paranoid-type people with huge egos they push around like some elephantiasis victim with his distended testicles in a wheelbarrow, terrified, no doubt, that some skulking ingrate-of-a-clone student will sneak into their very brains and steal their genius work. The unfairness of it brings tears to his eyes as he peers anxiously through his bifocals.

Cloning isn't ego gone berserk. On the contrary, cloning is the end of the ego. For the first time, the spirit of man will be able to separate itself from the human machine, to see it and use it as a machine. He is no longer identified with one special Me machine. The human organism has become an artifact he can use like a plane, a boat, or a space capsule.

The poet John Giorno wondered if maybe a clone of a clone of a clone would just phase out into white noise like copies of copies of tape. As Count Korzybski used to say: "I don't know, let's see."

But ultimately, I postulate, true immortality can be found only in space. Space exploration is the only goal worth striving for. Over the hills and far away. You will know your enemies by those who attempt to block your path. Vampiric monopolists would keep you in time like their cattle. "It's a good thing cows don't fly," they say with an evil chuckle. The evil, intelligent Slave Gods.

The gullible, confused, and stupid pose an equal threat owing to the obstructive potential of their vast numbers. I have an interesting slip in my scrapbook. News clipping from the Boulder Camera. Picture of an old woman with a death's-head, false-teeth smile. She is speaking for the Women's Christian Temperance Union. "WE OPPOSE CHILD ABUSE, INTEMPERANCE, AND IMMORTALITY."

The way to immortality is in space, and Christianity is buried under slag heaps of dead dogma, shriveling prayers, and empty prayers must oppose immortality in space as the counterfeit always fears and hates the real thing. Resurgent Islam...born-again Christians...creeds outworn...excess baggage...'nuff said.

Immortality is prolonged future, and the future of any artifact lies in the direction of increased flexibility capacity for change and ultimately mutation. Immortality may be seen as a by-product of function: "to stress in use." Mutation involves changes that are literally unimaginable from the perspective of the future mutant. Cold-blooded, nondreaming creatures living in the comparatively weightless medium of water could not conceive of breathing air, dreaming, and experiencing the force of gravity as a basic fact of life. There will be new fears like the fear of falling, new pleasures, and new necessities. There are distinct advantages to living in a supportive medium like water. Mutation is not a matter of logical choices.

The human mutants must take a step into the unknown, a step that no human being has ever taken before.

"We were the first that ever burst into that silent sea."

EDITORIAL

Another balmy day after a night of heavy rain, shiny cold streets, and a moody cab ride home: right out of the pages of this very magazine. But, about the new year, and the growth of Heavy Metal: like the now divorced parents of it all, Les Humanoides Associés (i.e., associés — related to; humanoides — like-human-but-not-the-same-as), this is a magazine defined more readily by what it isn't than by what it is. Entering its fifth year of publication, HM always offers the unexpected, and we sorta like that. We can always experiment and never feel as if we've broken a promise.

Okay, so we've got the who of it down pat. Corben is still going strong, and there's more Druillet to come, and Casa. Crepax, Bilal, Wrightson, and Chaykin, among others. And some who ain't here for the moment but will be back. Within the next few months, Heavy Metal will also publish some new European finds. Milo Manera, a young Italian artist, will make his American debut here. And Fernando Fernandez, the well-known Spanish fantasist, will adorn these pages. The European legacy remains. Fantasy. Science fiction. The absurd. The surreal. And a quality that descends from bande dessinée, a French term that means maturity in a graphic, narrative form. Heavy Metal, in a sense, stands like a coin propped upright, precariously balanced.

And the coin could fall either way: toward being more of a magazine that in the coming months becomes an extension of the pop culture and acts with a sense of cultural significance. Or it could topple the other way. HM could remain a cult item, cherished by a few but smothered by the silence. We would prefer the former course, even if it does risk (as has happened in other magazines) popularization to the point of being pabulum. A fanzine this isn't; all it's predicated on refutes that. As an aesthetic replete with its own values, bande dessinée performs a neat sleight of hand with various McLuhan-esque dicta about the postliterate culture and the message-izing of the medium. The brain tricks played here are of a certain kind: the immediacy of image and the deep mental action of print. Be ignited by it, or don't take it seriously at all, but it's no mere cultural juvenilia. And it takes a bunch of snail eaters like the French to figure it out. Howsabout that?

We know how much our lives are shaped by the arts; after all, it was the American public that elected an actor as president. As we begin to consider every manner of guest essay, new concepts using print and paper, and a solid stand behind our new review section (premiering next month), we're talking Heavy Metal talk. We're speaking the language of this magazine, because we're talking about quality—an attitude. A tone like a clear note ringing in the head, banging against radiant, resonant heavy metal.

CHAIN MAIL

The following are four letters commenting on Harlan Ellison's "Fear Not Your Enemies" (HM, March 1981). The letters are uncensored. We decided to run them as is, with no last word or rebuttal from Mr. Ellison or our staff. We had our say; now it's your turn.

Dear Heavy

I have never read anything so pointed and direct as Harlan Ellison's "Fear Not Your Enemies" (Heavy Metal, March). Indeed, it was a shock; I was confronted with an illumination of my psyche of almost six years ago when at age twenty I helped murder a man with a handgun. Ellison's portrayal of unlikely murderers is quite true, and fittingly describes many men I have known during my imprisonment.

Edward Yashinsky aptly placed much of the burden of guilt on the evil of indifference, while Ellison, reflecting on President Reagan's comment, hits hard at the central core, and is a vivid picture of the state of the situation on violence in this country. Yes, I'm guilty, much more so than most. But here's one who will be contacting Handgun Control, Incorporated.

As Ellison says, don't cry and moan for John Lennon and the multitude of others slain. I won't say I never cried for my victim, but does it help? Of course not. Since I am fortunate to be alive I can help kill indifference rather than people. The availability and abundance of handguns and their easy access is staggering when realized. My realization of it led to the untimely and wanton death of a man I never knew, and my sobering is guaranteed to continue for several years as my stay in prison continues. But this is not my story. This is to further credit Harlan Ellison and his commentary. Perhaps my hindsight may shore up worthy credibility to Ellison's perception, but a message is essentially needed to be given to all you would-be killers: you are already guilty, and Ellison has given you prudent advice, so do something about it.

Your life may depend on it, so don't lower yourself as I did.

Dan L. Rea
Hagerstown, Maryland

Dear Heavy Metal,

Excuse me for living. Pardon my soul for buying my favorite magazine each month and reading it from cover to cover. I ask forgiveness from the Great White Harlan Ellison. His essay, in the March issue, confirms my belief that if you make something sound even remotely reasonable, use sensationalism to the max, and have a name that is already well known, you can get anything printed!

While it is regrettable that thousands of people die every day from the use of handguns, may I point out that people have been killing other people—innocent or otherwise—for thousands of years. Granted, a gun makes it a much easier and more impersonal death, but it is death just the same. Take away the guns and man will find other means of killing his fellow man.

Does Mr. Ellison really believe that if we all get together and pool our hard-earned and much sweated over dollars in Washington, he, we, a group, or anybody is going to change human nature? Harlan, my boy, if you believe that, you are a bigger asshole than you believe us readers of Heavy Metal to be.

In case you haven't noticed, people of every size, shape, and social class commit these crimes: from the high-class asshole who watches "art films," to the stupid shithead who watches the "Dukes of Hazzard," to the readers of Heavy Metal. Your wasting two pages of my favorite magazine to call me a "good li'l heavymetal baby with Teflon'd nostrils" and complain about a quirk of human nature that's been a part of man since man has been on earth is the biggest well-written line of shit that I've ever read.

Steve McCormick
Germantown, Ohio

Dear Heavy Metal Folk:

Harlan Ellison's piece in your March issue prompts me to leave the silent majority of your readers and ask a question. Why print Mr. Ellison's diatribe? It addresses only a small portion of an immensely complex social problem, and does so in a needlessly vulgar manner.

From a personal standpoint, I am unimpressed with both his arguments and his ranting prose. Having already been treated to an essay on why he doesn't like his readers, I'm not surprised by his latest article. Clearly he feels the readership of Heavy Metal is composed of people who communicate solely in four-letter words, if at all.

I hate to collapse your house of cards, Harlan, but there are people out here who consider themselves at least on your level of compassion and understanding; some of them own handguns.

We do agree on one thing, though. John Lennon's death has no more value than do the hundreds of others that occur weekly in this country. We differ in our thoughts of what to do about it.

The Constitution of the United States grants the citizenry of this country the right to keep and bear arms. It makes no provision for the invasion of another person's life with those arms. President Reagan has a valid idea, perhaps the only one advanced so far: maximum, brutal sentences for those who commit crimes with weapons of any kind. This kind of deterrent will give the small-time professional criminal something to consider. You're right, Harlan, it won't do anything for the "crazy." But I think there are considerably fewer crazies than you'd like to believe.

The majority of handgun owners, myself included, are responsible citizens. We maintain our weapons, and our proficiency with them, as a sport and against the day when ...God forbid...they represent the only practical way out of a life-threatening emergency.

Like it or not, Harlan, we live in a time when our societal structure fails to protect us. This is not the fault of the police, who can react only "after the fact." Much of the blame must be shared by a court system that places more value in the rights of the criminal than in those of the victim. It is the legacy of liberal government.

I have no intention of sending a donation to Handgun Control. Instead I'll spend more time perfecting my skills and passing them on to others, in the hopes of preventing a few of the accidental shootings that are bound to happen when the uninstructed handle firearms.

Mr. Ellison, I don't object that you have an opinion different from mine. I would defend your right to it, as the Constitution directs me to do. I do object to your self-righteous, vulgar airing of it in a magazine that I read with continued pleasure.

So, in closing ...in words I think you'll understand:

Listen up yourself, punk. Just 'cause you've discovered fuck...son of a bitch... and asshole, don't make you right. Just 'cause you've learned to make a loud noise in print don't make you even half-right.

Harly, baby...when you can guarantee me and mine the ability to walk unmolested through your new Utopia, you can have my guns. 'Til then, gasbag, you'll get 'em by prying them from my cold, dead hand.

Your spew of an article tells us you've had a tough time (I'm genuinely sorry for that); so have some of the rest of us. It ain't going to happen again, not without a fight. You can buck the odds if you want to...good luck. Go splash blood and words somewhere else, or maybe join the Moral Majority. They really dig on stump thumping.

Sincerely,
M. C. Dixon

Dear Mr. Ellison,

First of all, this is not a shitty little letter telling you how concerned I am and bitching because you ragged all of the readers of Heavy Metal out. Your treatise was obnoxious, but very effective. It got me so pissed off at you that I wrote a check and mailed it that day. I had had the address on the wall for about two weeks, meaning to do it when I got some more money, but you know how that goes—there never seems to be enough. So I finally cleaned out my bank account, regardless of the consequences. But does the fact that I wrote the Handgun Control people a check automatically exclude me from the "big conspiracy" headed by our dear Uncle Ron? I will grant you that it is a start, but is that all it takes?

You might ask the Handgun Control people what kind of response they got after the March issue came out. I would be interested. But I wonder if it will be enough. I just don't know. All we can do is hope that the people of this country will come out from behind their TV sets long enough to see what we are becoming, and do something about it. But don't hold your breath.

Sincerely yours,
Laura S. Wamelink

BLOODSTAR
BY RICHARD CORBEN, JOHN JAKES, AND JOHN POCSIK

Brought before Byrdag, Bloodstar was forced to walk the Jaws of Ymir. Though he survived, he was banished from the encampment. On his journey to nowhere in particular, he met Grom and Helva, and together they set up camp. Soon afterward, Helva gave birth to their child, and the four of them lived in solitary bliss. The absence of Helva's father upset her greatly, and Bloodstar went off to find him for her. While he was gone, their campsite was ravaged, and Helva was attacked.

BLOODSTAR MUST HAVE FELT AN ODD ANXIETY AS HE MOVED TOWARD THE AESIR ENCAMPMENT. THE TENSION OF RETURNING TO A PLACE ONCE KNOWN AND LOVED AND NOW FORBIDDEN TO HIM.

WELL HELLO THERE LITTLE ONE WHAT ARE YOU DOING OUT IN THIS STORM? STOP CRYING IT'S ONLY A LITTLE RAIN AND THUNDER WAAAAAAA!
WE'LL FIND YOUR FATHER SOON, YMIR. BUT YOU LOOK JUST LIKE HELVA.
WE'LL HAVE TO WAIT FOR THIS STORM TO PASS LET'S GET YOU INTO SOME SHELTER.
THERE SNUG AND WARM. THAT'S RIGHT CLOSE YOUR EYES AND SLEEP BYRDAG WILL WATCH OVER YOU

WE PASSED A SLEEPLESS NIGHT COLD AND CRAMPED AMID THE TANGLED ROOTS OF A FOREST GIANT I HEARD MY FRIEND'S QUIET SOBS ALL THROUGH THE NIGHT

AT FIRST LIGHT WE EMERGED FROM THE DRIPPING TREES TO RENEW THE SEARCH BUT WHAT EVER TRAIL THERE WAS HAD BEEN WASHED AWAY WE RANGED THE GRASSLANDS, LOOKING FOR SOME SIGN. AT LAST WEARY AND DEPRESSED, BLOODSTAR DECIDED TO LOOK IN THE VICINITY OF THE AESIR ENCAMPMENT IT WAS THEN THAT SAW—

OUR HEARTS POUNDING, WE RACED FORWARD—

NOTHING WE HAD EVER SEEN BEFORE
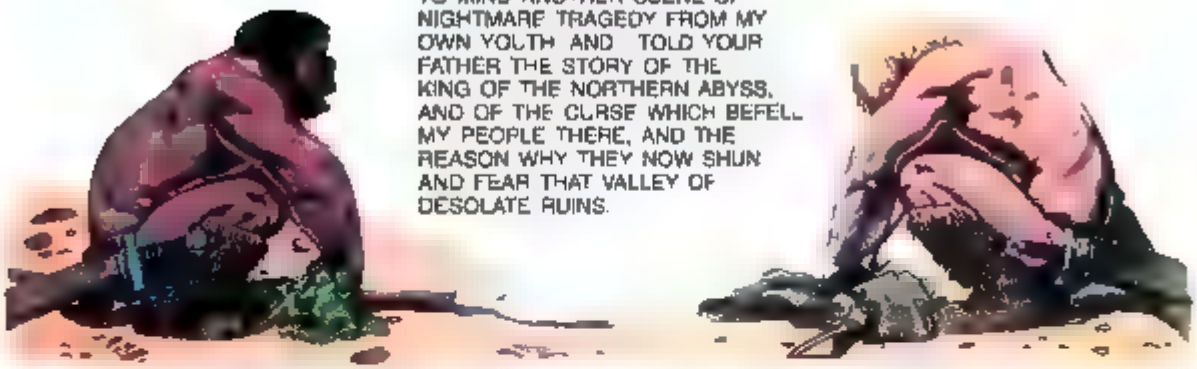
COULD HAVE PREPARED
US FOR THE HORROR
WE ENCOUNTERED NOW.



THE CARNAGE AROUND US CALLED TO MIND ANOTHER SCENE OF NIGHTMARE TRAGEDY FROM MY OWN YOUTH AND TOLD YOUR FATHER THE STORY OF THE KING OF THE NORTHERN ABYSS, AND OF THE CURSE WHICH BEFELL MY PEOPLE THERE, AND THE REASON WHY THEY NOW SHUN AND FEAR THAT VALLEY OF DESOLATE RUINS.

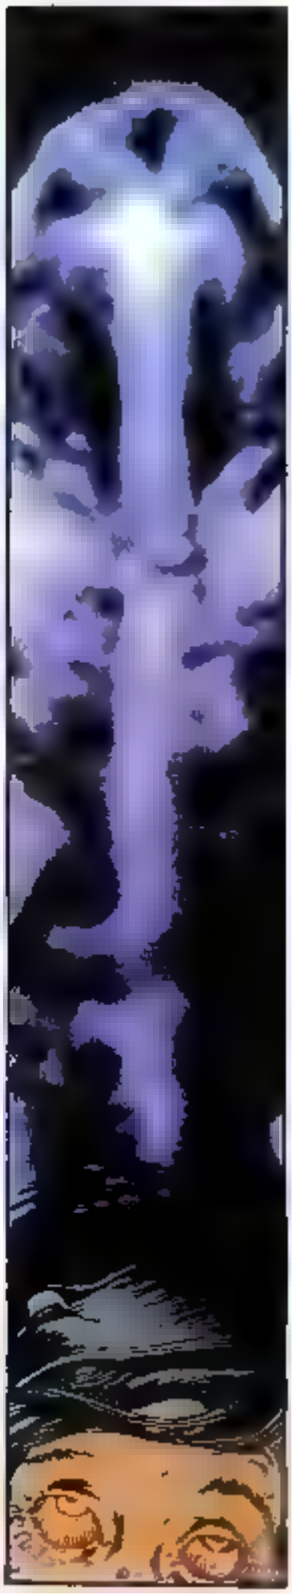
ONCE, I SAID TO HIM, FATHER'S FATHERS WANDERED INTO THAT VALLEY FROM THEIR REGULAR TERRITORY HUNTING WAS GOOD SINCE THE AREA WAS FREE OF PREDATORS. THEY DECIDED TO SETTLE THERE IN THAT PEACEFUL VALLEY BUT AFTER A FEW WEEKS, A WITHERING SICKNESS CAME OVER THEM SOME DIED, AND THE ENTIRE CLAN WAS AFFECTED STRANGELY OFFSPRING BORN WITHIN THE SHADOWS OF THOSE WALLS WERE DELIVERED EITHER DEAD OR HORRIBLY DEFORMED. THE NEW GENERATION OF JUNGLE PEOPLE DIFFERED VASTLY FROM THEIR PARENTS. OF SUCH STOCK CAME

ONE DAY ONE OF THE WARRIORS WHO HAD THE SICKNESS, BUT LIVED, WAS EXPLORING THE CRUMBLING BUILDINGS, WHERE HE DISCOVERED A SEEMINGLY BOTTOMLESS WELL.

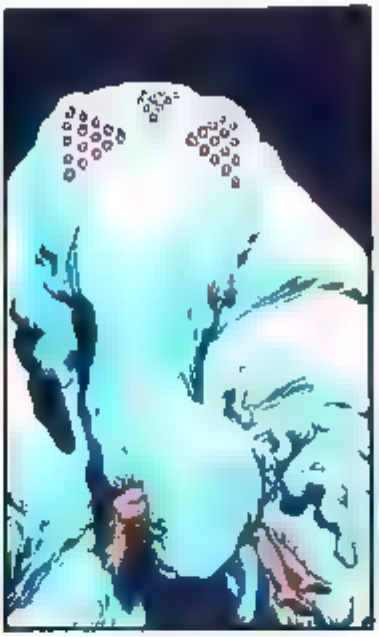
SOMETHING OVERCAME HIM THERE, SOMETHING WHICH TOOK OVER HIS MIND. HE RETURNED TO OUR CAMP OUTSIDE THE WALLS, LEAPING HIGH INTO THE AIR IN A DANCE OF MADNESS. ALL THE WHILE HE PLAYED A HYPNOTIC MELODY ON HIS PIPES.

HIS COMRADES SHOUTED IN FEAR. HE GIBBERED AND DROOLED AND CACKLED INSANELY AS HE DANCED. HIS EYES ROLLED UP IN THEIR SOCKETS.

SUDDENLY SOMETHING TOWERED BEHIND HIM—

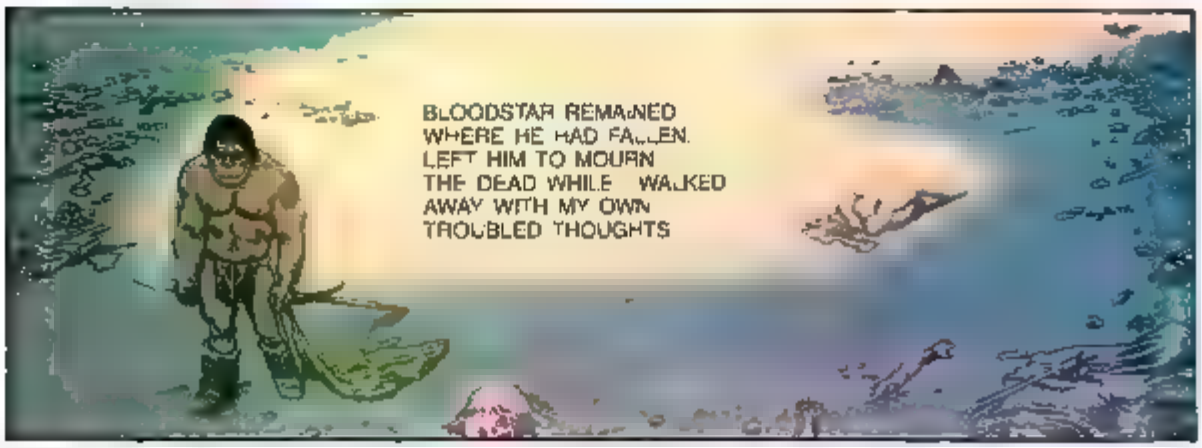


THE PULSING HORROR FLOWED INTO OUR MIDST, CRUSHING AND MANGLING. IT DEVOURED WHOLE GROUPS. I REMEMBER MY MOTHER FLED OUT OF THE VALLEY WITH THE REST BEHIND US. THE MONSTER FEASTED. I CAN STILL HEAR THE DARKNESS SHATTERED BY THE SCREAMS OF ITS VICTIMS



THE PITIFUL REMNANTS OF MY TRIBE AVOIDED THE PLACE AFTER THAT. BUT THEY WATCHED ITS BORDERS, LEST SOMETHING CREEP OUT OF THE NIGHT AFTER THEM. FOR MONTHS AFTERWARD THE MAD PIPER COULD BE SEEN DANCING IN THE MOONLIGHT AS HE TRIED TO LURE US BACK

FEAR THE DEMON HAS RISEN FROM THE DEPTHS ONCE MORE TO DESTROY YOUR PEOPLE
OH, YMIR IS THIS ALSO THE FATE OF HELVA AND LITTLE BLOODSTAR?



AS THAT DREADFUL DAY PASSED, TOWARD RAVEN DUSK, CROUCHED, HOPING FOR SOME SIGN OF LIFE. EVEN THE CARRION BIRDS WERE FRIGHTENED. I WAS WATCHING MY SHADOW LENGTHEN ALONG THE GROUND WHEN I HEARD BLOODSTAR STIR.

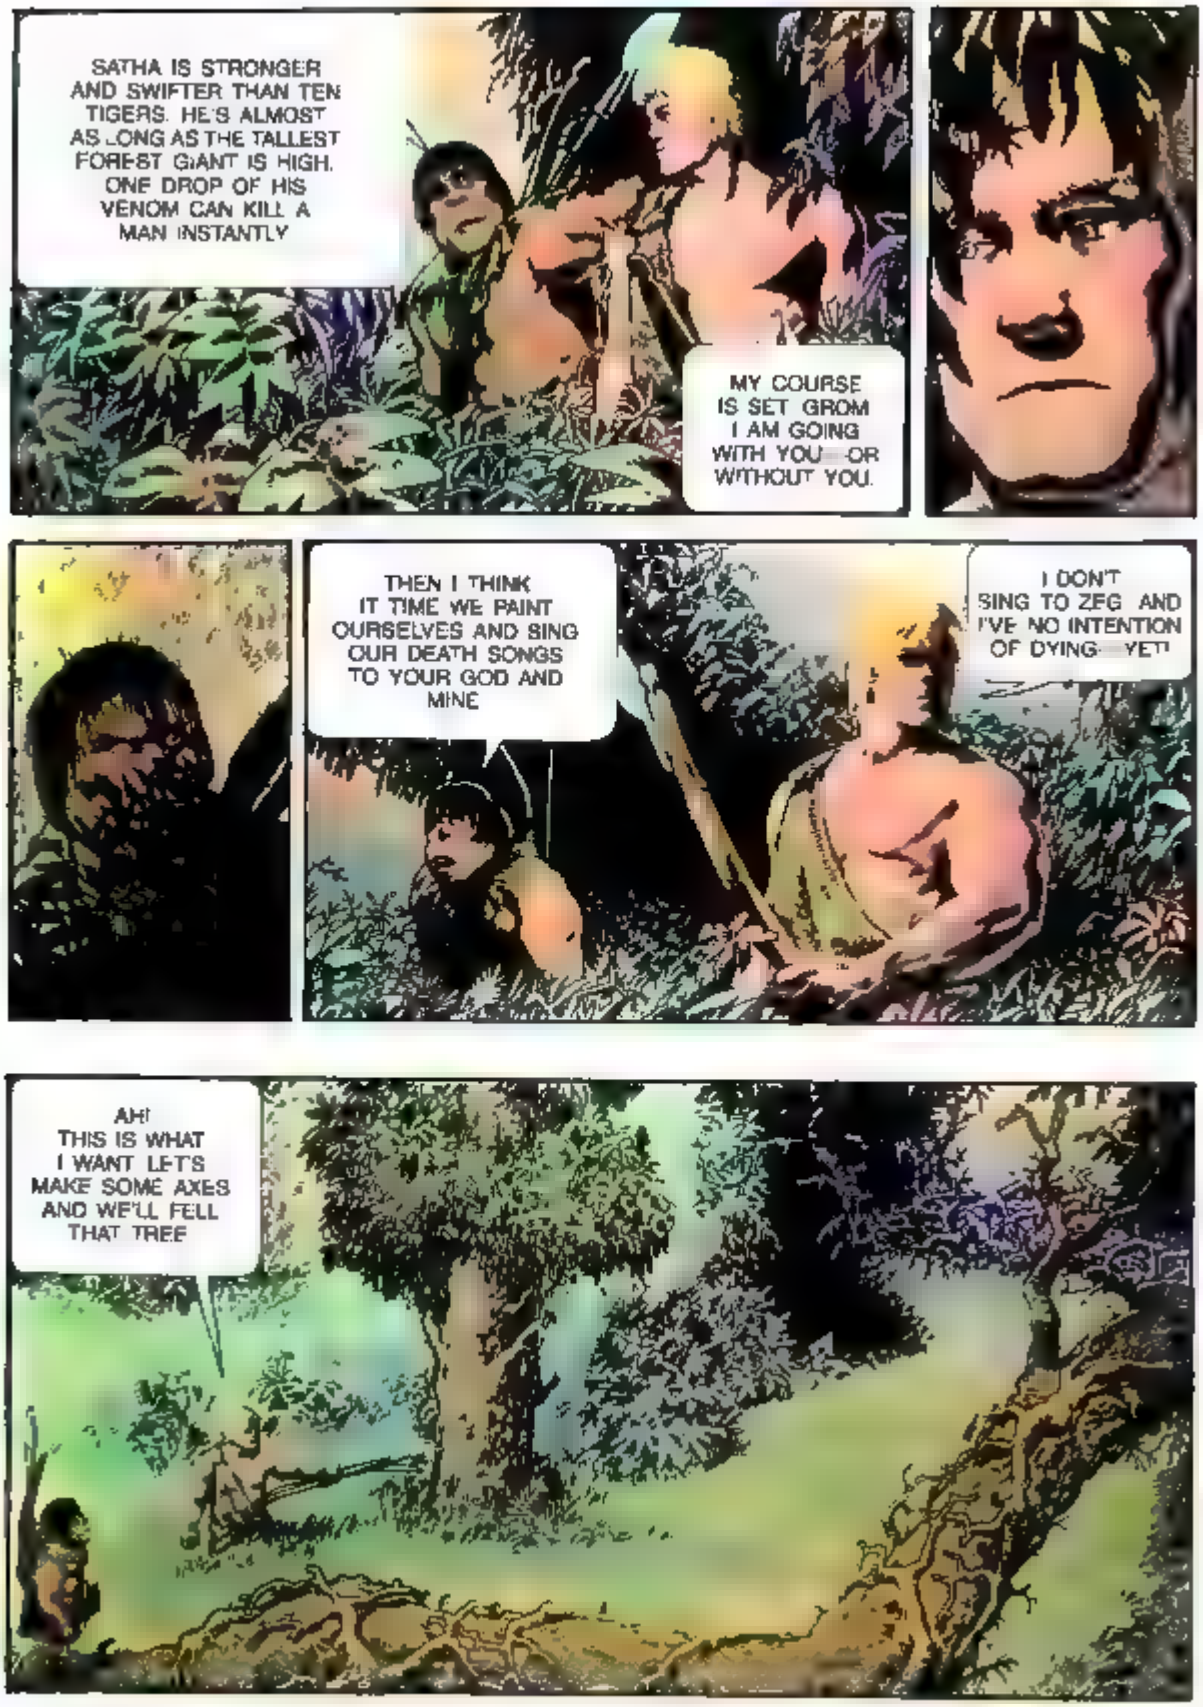
COME, MY FRIEND, LET'S LEAVE I KNOW WHAT MUST DO NOW

CAN'T LEAVE THEM LIKE THIS. HELP ME BUILD A FUNERAL PYRE

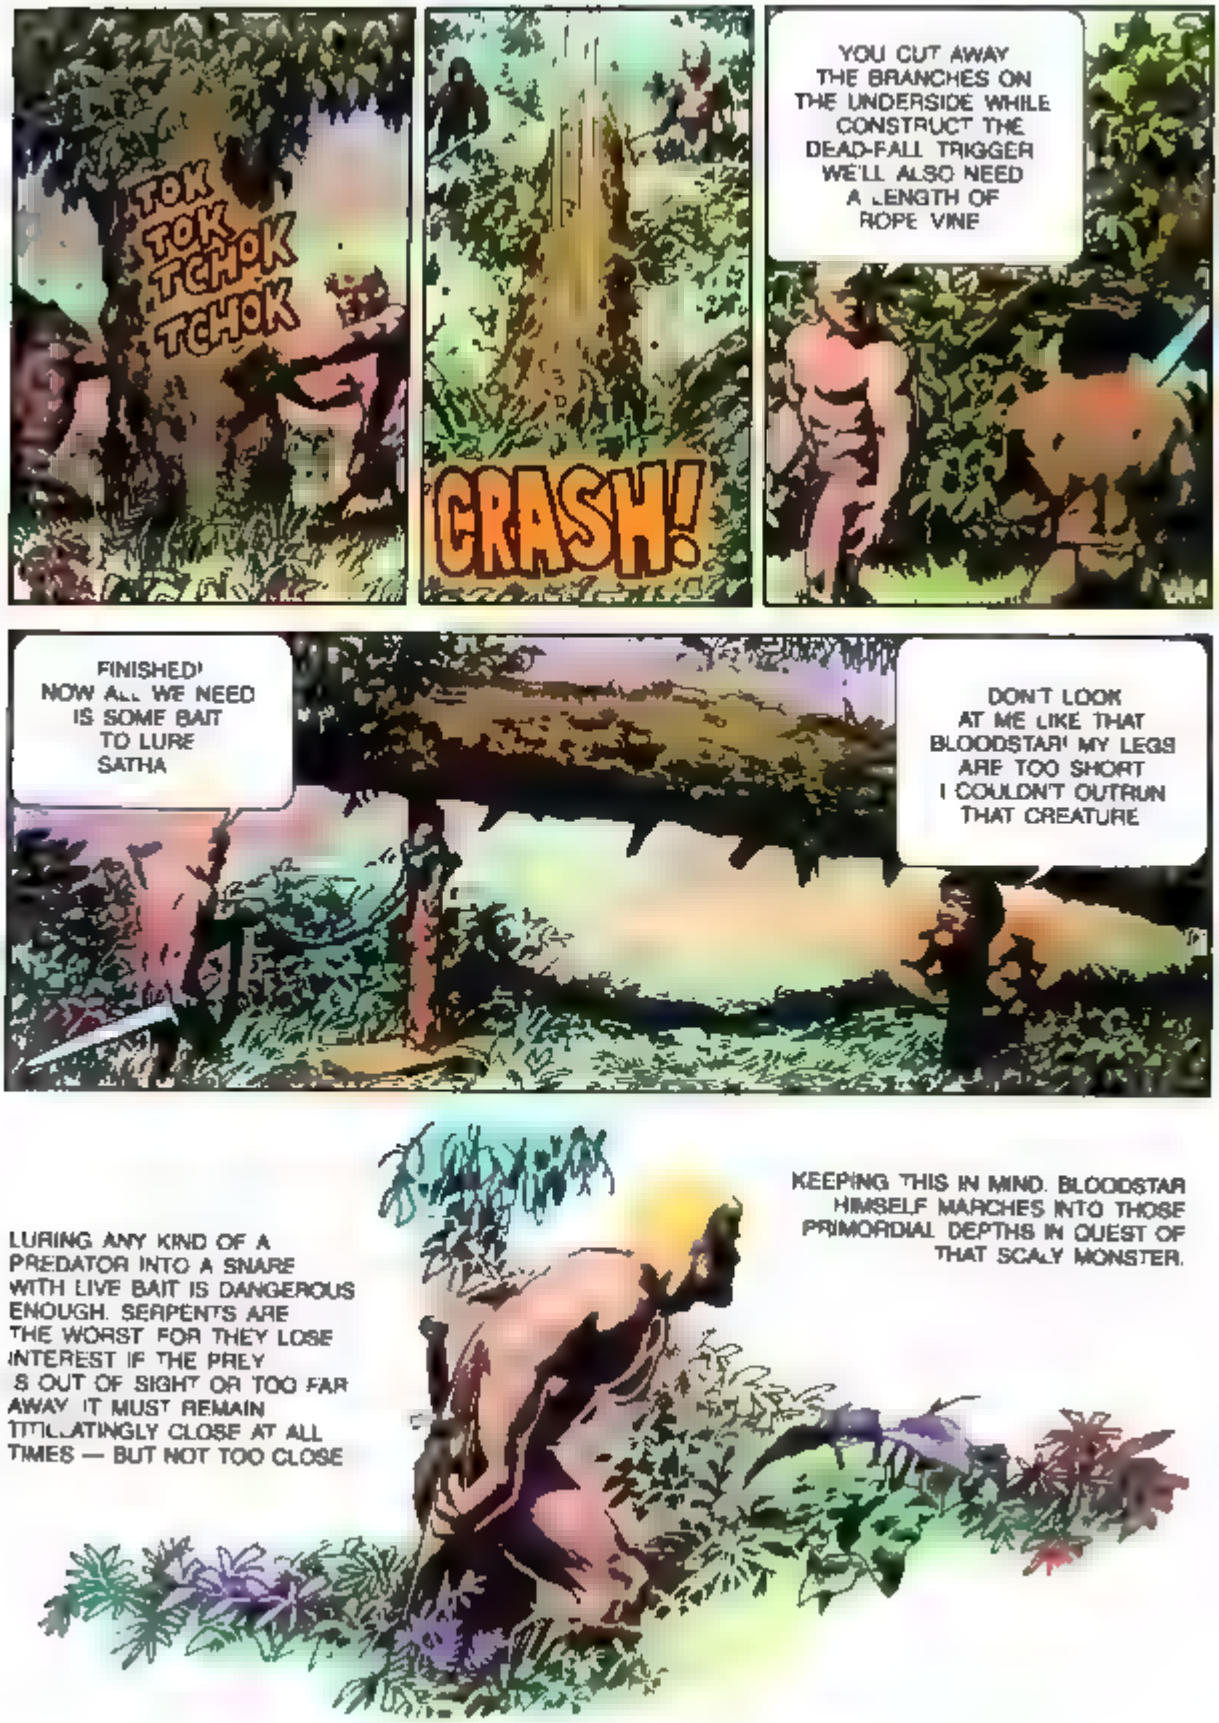
IT WAS HARD WORK TO FIND WOOD DRY ENOUGH TO BURN. I SHUDDERED AS WE GATHERED THOSE PITIFUL HUMAN REMAINS AND PLACED THEM ON THE PYRE.

IT IS DONE NOW I MUST FIND SATHA NEED HIS POISON FOR THE TASK I HAVE IN MIND

SILENTLY FOLLOWED YOUR FATHER BACK INTO THE FOREST CERTAIN HE HAD GONE MAD WITH GRIEF BUT HE MUST HAVE SENSED MY THOUGHTS, FOR HE PLACED HIS HAND UPON MY SHOULDER AND ASSURED ME THAT HIS MIND WAS STILL HIS OWN. A DAY AND A NIGHT'S MARCH TOOK US DEEP INTO THE SEETHING, ROTTING SWAMP



SATHA IS STRONGER AND SWIFTER THAN TEN TIGERS. HE'S ALMOST AS LONG AS THE TALLEST FOREST GIANT IS HIGH. ONE DROP OF HIS VENOM CAN KILL A MAN INSTANTLY
MY COURSE IS SET GROM I AM GOING WITH YOU OR WITHOUT YOU.
THEN I THINK IT TIME WE PAINT OURSELVES AND SING OUR DEATH SONGS TO YOUR GOD AND MINE
I DON'T SING TO ZEG AND I'VE NO INTENTION OF DYING YET!
AH! THIS IS WHAT I WANT LET'S MAKE SOME AXES AND WE'LL FELL THAT TREE



TOK TOK TCHOK TCHOK
CRASH!
YOU CUT AWAY THE BRANCHES ON THE UNDERSIDE WHILE CONSTRUCT THE DEAD-FALL TRIGGER WE'LL ALSO NEED A LENGTH OF ROPE VINE
FINISHED! NOW ALL WE NEED IS SOME BAIT TO LURE SATHA
DON'T LOOK AT ME LIKE THAT BLOODSTAR! MY LEGS ARE TOO SHORT I COULDN'T OUTRUN THAT CREATURE
LURING ANY KIND OF A PREDATOR INTO A SNARE WITH LIVE BAIT IS DANGEROUS ENOUGH. SERPENTS ARE THE WORST FOR THEY LOSE INTEREST IF THE PREY IS OUT OF SIGHT OR TOO FAR AWAY IT MUST REMAIN TITILLATINGLY CLOSE AT ALL TIMES — BUT NOT TOO CLOSE KEEPING THIS IN MIND, BLOODSTAR HIMSELF MARCHES INTO THOSE PRIMORDIAL DEPTHS IN QUEST OF THAT SCALY MONSTER.

SSSSSSSSSS
THE RUSH OF THE SERPENT'S SUPPLE BODY BEHIND HIM WAS LIKE THE SWEEP OF THE WIND THROUGH TALL GRASS HIS BREATH BURNING IN HIS CHEST HE CAUGHT SIGHT OF ME
NOW PULL

MEANWHILE BACK AT TEX ARCANA'S PLACE, DOC IS WINDING UP HIS BIZARRE TALE AND FEELING A LITTLE MORE ON TOP OF THINGS
SO, IT OCCURRED TO ME THAT IT MIGHT BE OH, DARE I SAY IT?
IT'S SO FARFETCHED!
SAY IT! SAY IT!
THAT IT MIGHT BE A VAMPIRE!
THERE, I SAID IT FOOL THAT I AM

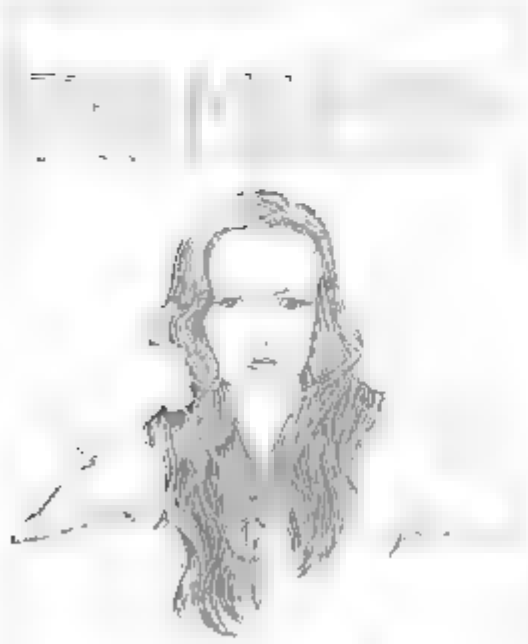
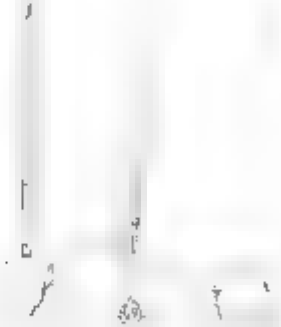
NOT YOU KNOW?
THAT VERY ONE! AND HE'S GIVEN IT TO SADIE
ALONG WITH THIS RING
Suis-je manjultan

HERE TAKE A CLOSER LOOK AT IT
THERE'S SOMETHING WRITTEN ON IT
IT'S A LANGUAGE I NEVER SAW BEFORE
WHAT THE..?





WELL, FOLKS, HERE WE ARE AT THE END OF ANOTHER EPISODE AND STILL NO HELP FOR THE UNFORTUNATE RESIDENTS OF HANGMAN'S CORNERS. WILL TEX GET CRANKED UP AND COME TO THE RESCUE, OR WILL AID COME IN THE GUISE OF THE MYSTERIOUS LADY IN WHITE WHO IS EVEN NOW PERFORMING SOME SORT OF WEIRD "ONE RING CEREMONY"? FIND OUT IN OUR NEXT EPISODE OF TEX ARCANA!

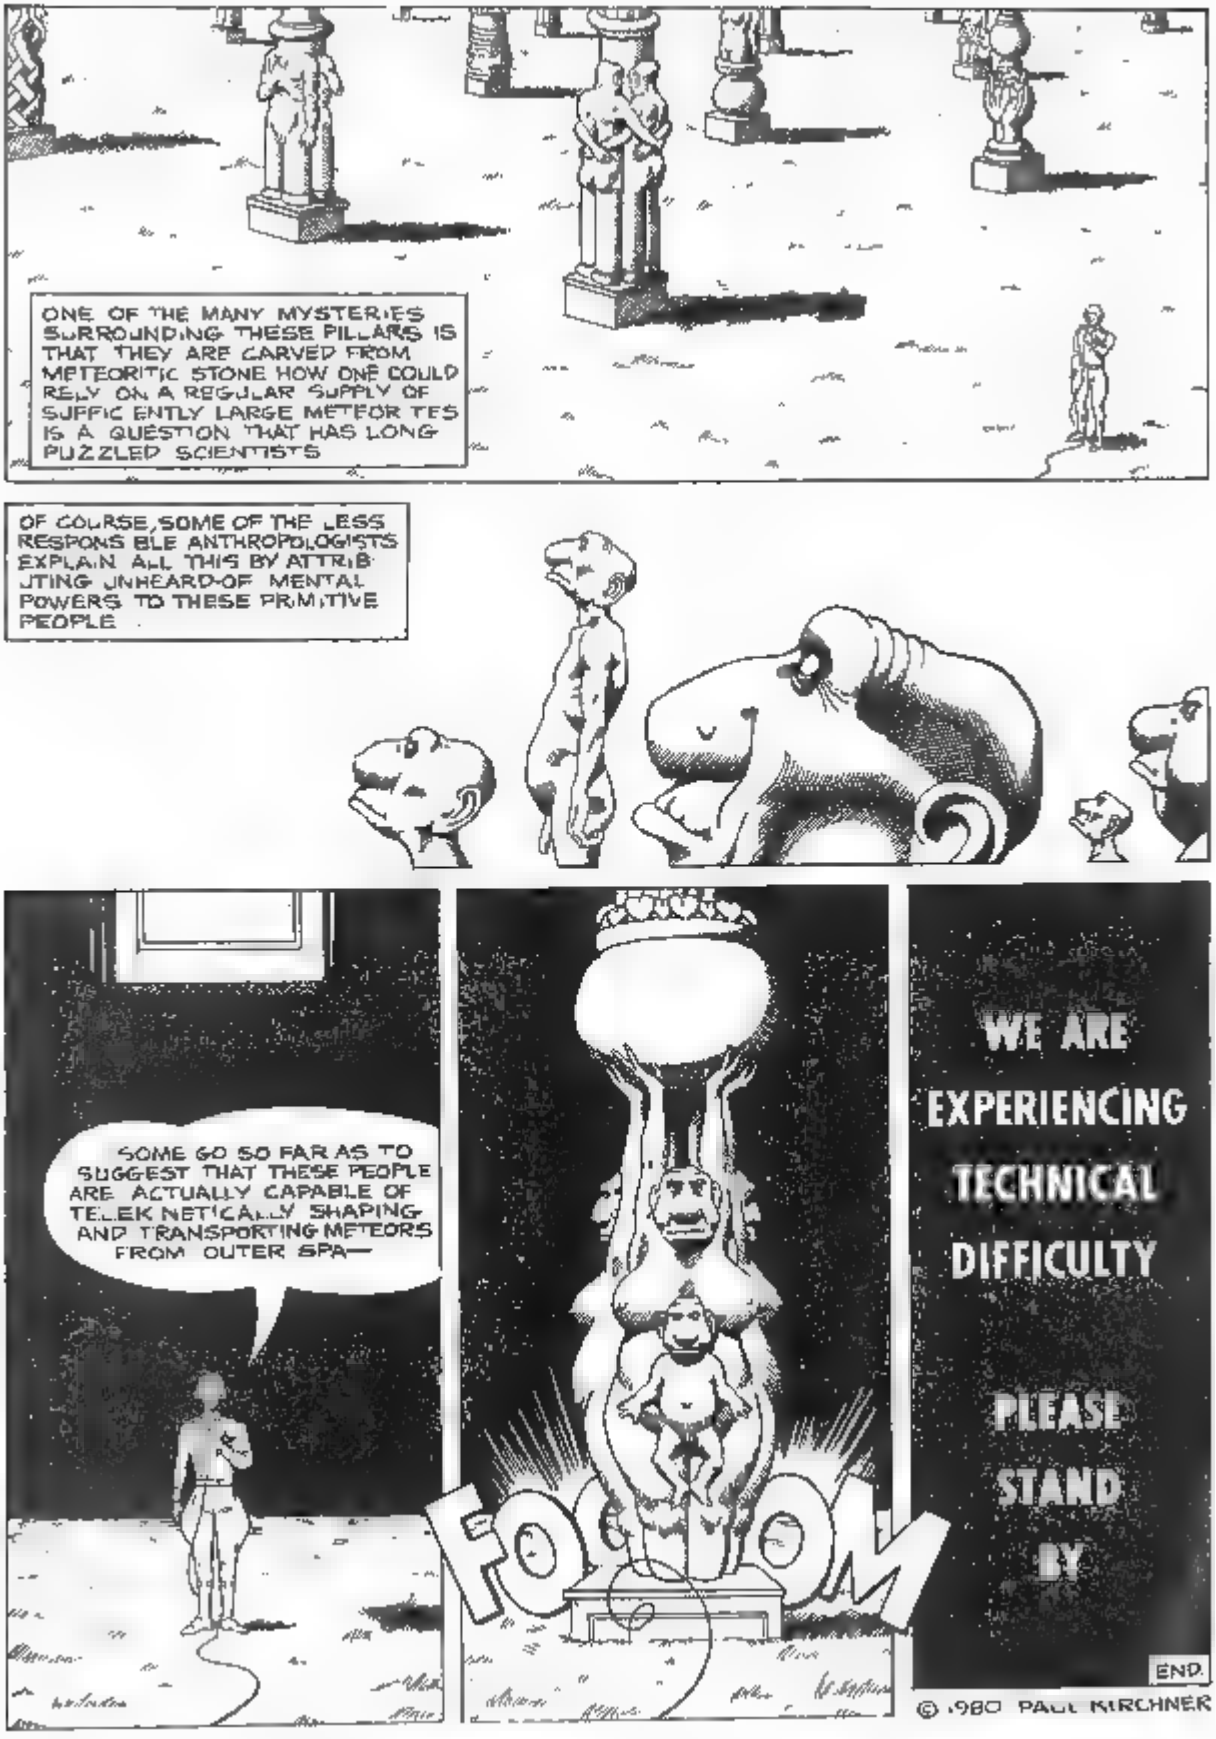
HELLO, THIS IS JERRY RIVERS BRINGING YOU ANOTHER EPISODE OF "OUR WEIRD UNIVERSE" TODAY'S BROADCAST COMES TO YOU LIVE FROM P-11507, A SMALL INHABITED PLANET IN A BACK WATER REGION OF THE CRAB NEBULA

P-11507 IS IN THE MIDDLE OF NOWHERE, AND IS, IN A SENSE, INDISTINGUISHABLE FROM ITS SURROUNDINGS. THE CLIMATE IS DISMAL, THE GEOGRAPHY DULL, AND THE INHABITANTS WELL...

TO CALL THEM PRIMITIVE WOULD BE CHARITABLE. IN SHORT, P-11507 WOULD BE LITTLE MORE THAN AN AFTERTHOUGHT TO A CONSCIENTIOUS MAPMAKER WERE IT NOT FOR THE MYSTERIOUS...

"PILLARS OF P-11507"
THE PILLARS OF P-11507 FORM A PERFECT GRID OVER 14 HECTARES OF THE PLANET'S LANDMASS. WITH EVERY COMPLETE ORBIT OF THIS PLANET, WHICH TAKES 9.7 EARTH YEARS, A NEW PILLAR IS ERECTED. BY STUDYING THE DIRECTION IN WHICH THE GRID HAS BEEN EXTENDED, AND BY USING OUR KNOWLEDGE OF WHEN THE LAST PILLAR APPEARED WE KNOW WHERE AND WHEN TO EXPECT THE NEXT ONE. THIS IS THE PLACE, FOLKS, AND THIS IS THE DAY!

SO PLEASE STAY WITH ME FOR TODAY'S PROGRAM, IN WHICH I WILL FIND OUT WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THESE PILLARS AND HOW THEY ARE ERECTED
I WILL DO THIS BY STAKING OUT THE EXACT SPOT ON WHICH THE NEXT PILLAR IS DUE THIS VERY DAY!
I'M SURE YOU'LL ENJOY THIS UNIQUE ANTHROPOLOGICAL STUDY AS MUCH AS I WILL. HOW A GROUP OF PEOPLE WHOSE TECHNOLOGY HAS NOT YET ENCOMPASSED THE LOINCLOTH, MUCH LESS THE WHEEL, COULD CARVE AND TRANSPORT MASSIVE OBELISKS IS A FASCINATING QUESTION, I'M SURE YOU'LL AGREE
OUR LIVE CAMERAS WILL CLOSELY MONITOR THE NATIVES, TO SEE IF AND HOW THEY ACCOMPLISH THIS AMAZING FEAT
HOW CAN WE ASCRIBE AUTHORSHIP OF THESE PILLARS TO PEOPLE WHO WOULD REGARD A PIT LATRINE AS AN ENGINEERING MARVEL? ON OUR LIVE CAMERA WE SEE THEM, SITTING OR STANDING, SILENT, BARELY MOVING. SHOWING RECOGNITION OF NEITHER OUR PRESENCE NOR THE MOMENTOUS OCCASION. MOST ANTHROPOLOGISTS HAVE LONG SINCE GIVEN UP ON THESE PEOPLE, UNABLE TO FIND EVIDENCE OF ANYTHING RESEMBLING A CULTURE IN ANY PROPER SENSE, NOT EVEN A SPOKEN LANGUAGE
EARLY THEORIES WERE THAT THESE PILLARS WERE THE WORK OF A PREVIOUS ADVANCED CULTURE THAT SOMEHOW DEGENERATED TO ITS PRESENT STATE, BUT, AS WE KNOW, NEW PILLARS APPEAR EVERY PLANETARY YEAR. AND SO, THE MYSTERY CONTINUES.



ONE OF THE MANY MYSTERIES SURROUNDING THESE PILLARS IS THAT THEY ARE CARVED FROM METEORITIC STONE HOW ONE COULD RELY ON A REGULAR SUPPLY OF SUFFICIENTLY LARGE METEORITES IS A QUESTION THAT HAS LONG PUZZLED SCIENTISTS
OF COURSE, SOME OF THE LESS RESPONSIBLE ANTHROPOLOGISTS EXPLAIN ALL THIS BY ATTRIBUTING UNHEARD-OF MENTAL POWERS TO THESE PRIMITIVE PEOPLE
SOME GO SO FAR AS TO SUGGEST THAT THESE PEOPLE ARE ACTUALLY CAPABLE OF TELEKINETICALLY SHAPING AND TRANSPORTING METEORS FROM OUTER SPA—
FOOM
WE ARE EXPERIENCING TECHNICAL DIFFICULTY
PLEASE STAND BY END.

Detweiler

Drought
Drought. 91 days of unblinking, merciless sunshine. Her crops turning to ash on the vine. Detweiler's people no longer worry about profit from export they worry about starvation.
which burst, pouring forth the sweet, wet miracle of life
As one Detweiler's people moan in gratitude, giving thanks to an ultimately merciful God
The rain fell for ten days, continuously overrun, every parched inch of Detweiler's surface
CODY STARBUCK

The dying
When the ten-day deluge ended, fully one-third of Detweiler's people were dead
The priests, in protective clothing and masks, held mass funerals over the common graves of the dead
And still the people died
By the eighth day the prayers of gratitude had turned to screams of anguish
And, among the living (though most had forgotten) some remembered that a ship had been seen orbiting Detweiler. Most had been too busy burying their dead few remembered

Therefore, the only common link between these splintered world nations were the profit-making star travelers, who possessed the very few and pillage profit
and the cathedral ships of Mother Church manned by the warrior

THE MAKER: DZINTARS MEZULIS

BY BRAD [illegible]

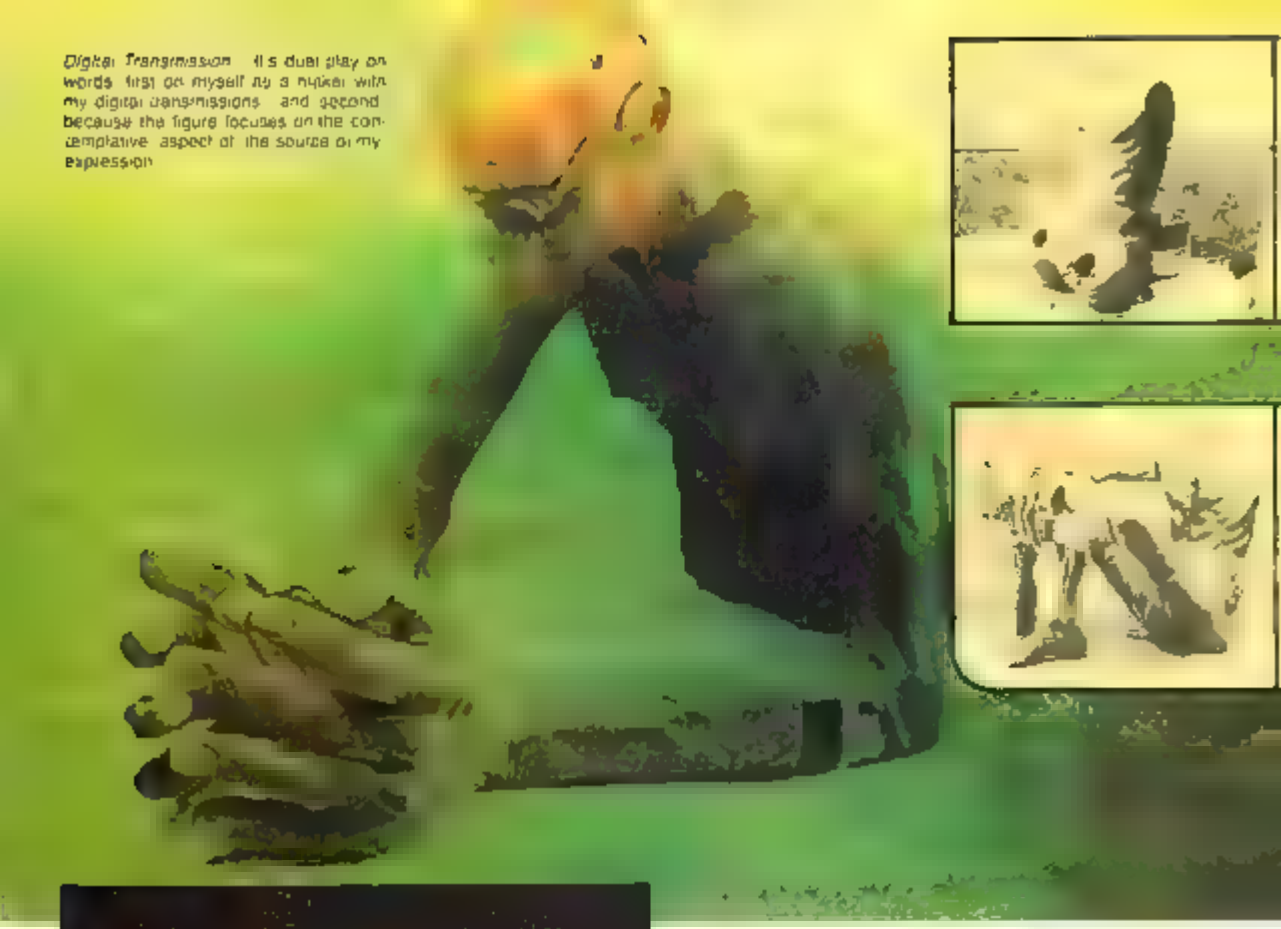
He sees his life transformed by a routine absorbed with clay and earthy mass. For him it is the translation of spirit into matter. "Truthfully, for me it's like a struggle with light and darkness. A magician, a wizard of soil, he's damn serious. "When I'm working with the staff I step back in time. I'm forever aware of temporality.

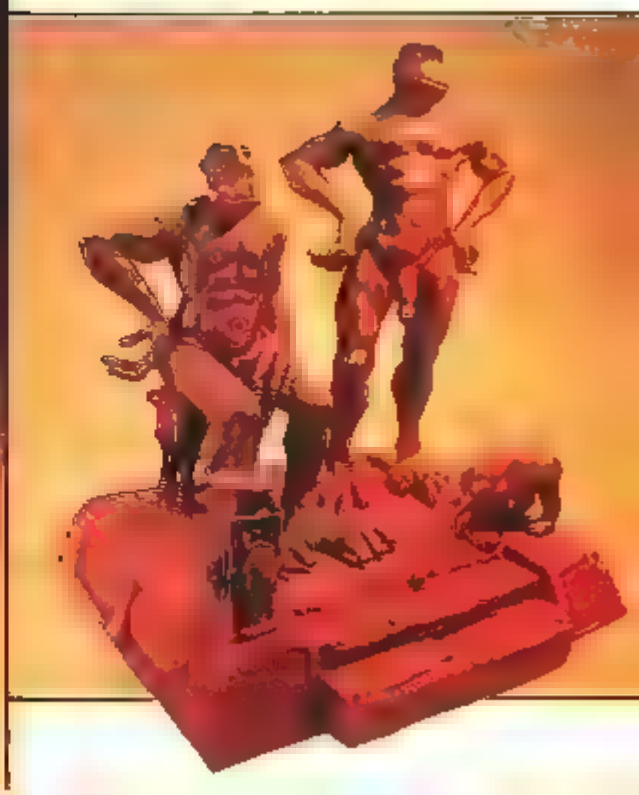
Not bullshit, not hippie-ism, his guy's been there and back. Four times near death, trapped by collapsing kidneys, he spent six years, from 1969 to 1975, trekking around the world in a quest for a life while always facing likely death. No wonder he is fascinated with making. "It's central to my being."

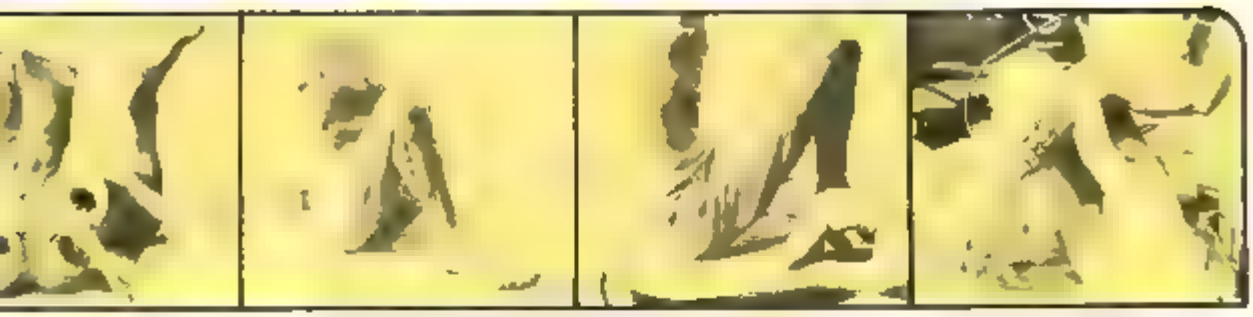
Transmutation. "In part it's a takeoff on Hermes, the god who guided souls to the underworld. There's a transmutation upwards from the stone monolith to a twelfth-century magus. This is a symbolic gesture toward matter becoming spirit.

Ringing in the Sheep. "The animal is a combination greyhound and brontosaurus. There's a melding. The rider seems tough and ferocious yet he delicately tinkles a tiny bell.

Digital Transmission - it's dual play on words: first on myself as a hybrid with my digital transmissions - and second because the figure focuses on the contemplative aspect of the source of my expression.



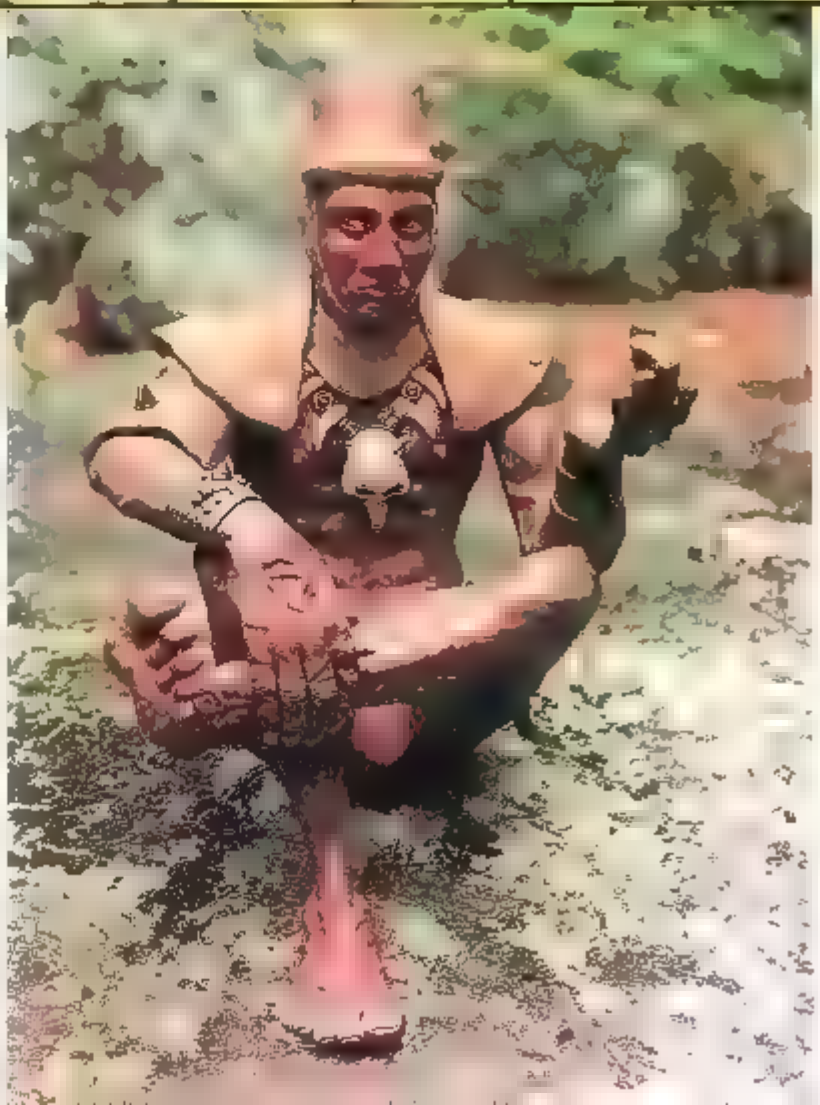




A piece will usually take me eight to twelve weeks time: twelve hours a day [illegible] overwhelmed by the chaos that were small, its earthiness. With all my energy concentrated, determine what will evolve. I use no armature. I [illegible]

He did psychoactive brews with Indians in Central America. He climbed Himalayan peaks in order to stop at Buddhist monasteries. The winds battered him in North African deserts while he was living with Bedouins. In the jungles of Guatemala, Mezulis visited ancient temples and slept in hammocks while scorpions crawled about and bats flew above silently. Through Europe, Asia, and Africa as well as both American continents, Mezulis saw eighty countries.

"I'm a sponge for experience, interested in all attitudes about being. Through my work I understand about being."



Darkness Draws Near. He wears a baboon worshiper's headdress, a sixteenth-century codpiece, a nineteenth-century revolver, and he sits on a twentieth-century Coke crate. He's the expression of timelessness, the savage whose veneer of civilization is thin.

The Royal Twins View the Games. These figures are part of a larger structure—they're tomb guardians on the surface, but underneath, eternal, primal entities.

Harzak Centering. With this figure its psychic dimension is several times the volume of physical space, so it's about space and timelessness.

SEWING HAD NOT BEEN ONE OF HER SKILLS, BUT USING THE NEEDLE AND THREAD WITH WHICH THE TOLL KEEPER HAD PRO-VIDED HER

President Kennedy once said of Washington, D.C., that it "combined northern charm with southern efficiency."
Now, sweltering in its stalled traffic shaking to its African rhythms I felt a sudden sense of communion with the heart-beat of a nation--
Is this your first visit to our city?
O Washington! dusky jewel set in the opulent navel of the industrial East, jaded, exotic seat of empire...
I used to come here for the protest marches.
What were you protesting?
Good God, who can remember that far back?
Well, we don't believe in that sort of thing now...

COMING NEXT MONTH

The untruths spun in last issue's Coming Next Month column have led to great confusion. "So what the hell ever happened to the Gimenez interview? or the Hagen feature?" queried letters from around the world. Kings and queens alike wrote with great concern. "You fibbed to us!" they steamed.

Well, we do apologize. Various scheduling problems couldn't be avoided. The following should give you a good idea of what's coming up in the June issue of Heavy Metal. Along with the illustrated works of Lucrezia Borgia we offer:

Caza's The March Hair, in which our narrator experiences a metamorphosis all his own.

Druillet and Picotto's Firaz, a strangely beautiful story bringing back for an encore the character of the same name.

The first part of a two-part interview with Richard Corben. With Brad Balfour, he discusses the *why*s, *when*s, *who*s, and *what*s behind his art.

Plus: the continuations of Corben's Bloodstar, Chaykin's Cody Starbuck, and Enki Bilal's The Immortals' Fete. Promise! Honest Injun!
